an article on "Gulf Po treats the future great seap of Texas, Sabine City, very un-cermoniously, in fact it ignores its existence by saying that Sabine City is not yet born. It also omits all mention of Houston in its list of gulf ports. The Times thinks that for the present New Orleans and Galveston will suffice to do most of the business, and further that the idea that the $20,000,000 invest-

THE LaGrange Journal is compelled to call upon the merchants of its town to give it more advertising. A mere subscription will not suffice to up a good local paper.

We do not wish to bestow any unmerited compliment, but are fully justified in saying that the Journal is far the best paper LaGrange has had since the war, and it is one that should be encouraged. Good words are cheap but it takes paid subscriptions and paid advertisements to keep a paper going.

THE Dallas Herald thus takes off and journalistic astronomers;

Texas has another journalist who is an astronomer. The first occupant of the editorial tripod to come to the front was the editor of the Austin Statesman who said the comet was the comet Capella. Then the erudite pencil shaver of the Houston Post sailed in and made all manner of sport of the Austin man and talked learnedly about Capella the little she goat and intimated that the Statesman editor was a nanny.

We don't know whether he meant a Miss Nancy or not. The Examiner scientist now looms up in the following: "And now comes Professor Deblieux, a French scientist, declaring that the comet has no tail, but the broad trail of silver light, which is regarded as its caudal ap-pendage, is merely a reflection of the brilliant meter shot out into space from the sun. And the professor is right."
